Reviews the response of personnel at the emergency scene in order to evaluate the effectiveness of the training program and to determine whether additional training or changes are needed. Provides employees with "on-the-job" training and assistance in technical areas of work. Oversees and evaluates the performance of employees in the training and safety environment, discussing such performance with employees and their superiors. Promotes peace and harmony within the training environment by seeing that discipline is maintained, providing counseling to employees experiencing work problems or taking any other action deemed necessary.

Develops and supervises the coordination of a safety program for the department by assuring that such program is properly supplied with training resources and by working with supervisors of divisions throughout the fire department to implement safety procedures. Determines the effectiveness of the safety program by devising evaluation methods and making recommendations for improvements. Demonstrates safety equipment and practices. Observes department personnel to ensure proper use of prescribed safety equipment. Conducts research to identify hazards and evaluate the loss-producing potential of a given operation. Develops and recommends accident and loss control systems and programs in order to reduce or eliminate occupational injuries or financial losses. Investigates all accidents involving department equipment or personnel to determine cause and make recommendations on procedures to avoid future accidents.

Responds to all alarms or emergency calls for which the department is answerable, and personally acts as part of the fire attack team. Takes charge of all safety procedures at the scene of a fire or emergency. Supervises employees and directs operations at the emergency scene involving basic fire fighting, first aid, CPR and emergency medical assistance. Maintains communications between the fire scene and other authorized personnel, calling for assistance, relaying information and coordinating activities between fire and law enforcement personnel. Provides for the needs of fire fighting and other emergency personnel at the scene of an incident. Observes fire suppression, rescue operations and related duties to assure compliance with established safety procedures. Makes notes and takes photographs at the scene for use in training. Participates in handling emergencies involving hazardous materials.

Supervises the preparation and maintenance of all training and safety division records and reports. Makes decisions concerning the form in which records should be kept and what information should be included. Periodically inspects systems and facilities for keeping records. Oversees the completion and filing of all forms, records and reports pertaining to training or safety. Reviews and evaluates reports written by fire department employees. Manages the accounting for money and assets of the division. Prepares requests for grants or other special funds to aid in the operation of the fire service. Gathers needed information and prepares a training and safety budget. Uses established budget parameters to purchase equipment and supplies for the division.

Sets management policies, goals, and objectives regarding the training and safety division. Monitors and evaluates local conditions which may become fire or safety hazards. Conducts research of technical data including local fire reports, statistics and specifications in order to integrate such material into the training program. Inspects or directs the inspection of buildings to determine the existence of potential fire hazards. Recommends changes in department operations that will help the district obtain favorable ISO ratings. Attends conferences, seminars or other educational meetings in order to keep informed on modern fire fighting methods and administrative practices. Participates in developing a personnel recruitment and selection program by reviewing applications for employment and helping to interview prospective employees. Makes arrangements for agility testing for newly hired employees.

Informs the public about the work of the fire department by answering telephone inquiries, delivering talks or demonstrations, distributing literature, conducting tours of the department or by participating in public education programs with other fire department divisions. Acts as a consultant for local volunteer fire departments by providing technical expertise, assistance and cooperation in training and safety.

Performs other related duties assigned.
